"Bands Recognized As Necessary To Mechanized War"

Visiting Bandsman Express Belief In Creative And Constructive Power of Music In War And Peace

"This is a unique occasion, to welcome the Canadian Bandmasters' Association," Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales said at a complimentary luncheon given by the town at the King George hotel on Saturday. Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale, chairman of the town's industrial committee, presided.

Reeve F. A. Lundy and other members of the council were present.

"I understand that the association is ten years old," Dr. Dales said. "We are glad that you have chosen our small town. I remember the first time I heard a band. I remember how all the little gaffers followed the band and how far we were from home when the band stopped playing. A band is a wonderful thing."

"The more music and fine arts the less coronary thrombosis and high blood pressure there will be," Dr. Dales stated.

"It is a great honor for the town of Newmarket and the citizens of Newmarket to have the bandmasters here," said J. O. Little, chief friend of the town's two bands. "I would like to thank Mr. Moore for inducing you gentlemen to have your meeting in Newmarket."

"We are delighted with our town council," said Mr. Little. "We appreciate the support they are giving our bands. We have lost 13 out of 26 players out of our Citizens' band to the army and war industry. We also have a very outstanding bugle band which went on parade with 50 boys at Waterloo when they won their wonderful victory. There are now 38 of the 50 in uniform and we still have a band of 50."

President Fred Johnson of Belleville said: "We are just human beings trying to do something for our fellow men. If you have a good band, keep on supporting it. While I would look into the future the Ontario band tax law holds for your band."

"We realize the power of music. We want to see each regiment with a band. There are lots of bandsmen to go around."

The Ontario band tax law authorizes up to mill on the tax rate for the support of a band. You give something worthwhile to your boys when you give them band training. What you give in money they will return in service."

Promoter of bands and band festivals, C. F. Thiele, Waterloo, said: "We sometimes lose sight of the importance of music. A band in a town does things that people don't even realize."

Town Appeals To Higher Court To Silence Trains

COUNCIL WOULD SECURE NIGHT QUIET TO FACILITATE CITIZENS' SLEEP

A letter to the railway company having failed to bring results, the town will now write to the dominion railway board to ask relief from the whistles which pierce the Newmarket night with continuous screams.

Reeve F. A. Lundy raised the question at a town council meeting on Monday evening. He said that the railway had replied to the town's letter.

"The engineers have to whistle at every whistling-post," said Reeve Lundy. "A train comes through about every hour during the night."

"There is one fellow comes through about 2 a.m. and he starts to blow at Pearson's Crossing and keeps it up right through town."

"He's a dandy," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales. Dr. Dales thought the wig-wags sufficient protection for the crossings.

Councillor Arleigh Armstrong thought it was a waste of time to write any more letters. The mayor asked the clerk, N. L. Mathews, K. C., to take the question up with the railway board.

Extra base blows were supplied by Neufeldt and Wilson, both of

LIONS STORY TOLD

What do they do with the money they earn?

The Era and Express put this pointed question to Secretary Harold McClelland of the Newmarket Lions club this week. Mr. McClelland happened to be on holidays and accepted the challenge immediately. He went through the records of the past year compiled by ex-Secretary H. E. Gilroy and came up with plenty.

"You bandmasters—many of you not well paid—are going on teaching music when you could earn more in a war factory. Because you realize you can do a job nobody else in the community can do.

"We are going on with our teaching because we realize it is our job to make the next generation's world a finer and better place to live in spite of Hitler."

Capt. T. E. Jackson, director of music, Royal Montreal Rifles, Montreal, thanked the town for the luncheon.

Mayor and Council Lead In Helping Put Wheat Fields In Stook

Mayor Dales And Councillors Enthusiastically Take Up Suggestion That Citizens Help In Fields

Members of the town council and Main St. business men took off their coats this week and helped neighboring farmers with their grain.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales and W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, organized the expeditions following a discussion of the farmers' difficulties at a town council meeting Monday evening.

The hope is that other citizens will take up the torch and provide district farmers with a reserve labor supply. Richmond Hill now has a commando of 25 men ready to help at any time, and according to J. E. Smith, editor, it has reached the point where citizens are offended if they are not asked to help.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town clerk and solicitor, took Dr. Dales, H. E. Lambert, manager of the Bank of Toronto, Chief Constable James Sloss and Mr. Cockburn to Cecil Dew's farm, Second St. north, on Tuesday evening.

Councillor J. L. Spilletto took Reeve F. A. Lundy, Harold Garrett, high school teacher, and L. B. Rose and W. J. Geer, business men, to the farm of Dalton Faris, Yonge St. They stooked 18 acres in two and a quarter hours, and Mr. Faris was ready to give them written recommendations.

Sam Gibney, barber, Douglas Earle, Ross Caradonna and Al. White, all merchants, went to Herb Webster's Glenville farm yesterday afternoon.

H. E. Gilroy, clothing merchant, put in three days last week and three days this week. He helped his father at Sutton part of the time last week and this week was at the Cathers farm, King township. Councillor J. L. Spilletto is going to the Cathers farm this afternoon.

Had 16 eye-sight cases treated. Provided four pairs of glasses. Took care of nine dental cases. Transported (members did this) 120 children from L. O. L. orphanage to Strand theatre, Newmarket, for free show, as guests of theatre, and supplied each youngster with a bag of candy.

Had one youngster in hospital in Toronto for ten days for diet adjustment.

Supplied milk, as much as seven quarts daily during one month, to underprivileged children, and one pound of butter weekly to one child.

Sent cigarettes to Newmarket soldiers overseas through Newmarket Veterans.

Gave 675 bags of nuts, candy and apples to school children and L. O. L. Orphanage children at Hallowe'en. Packed and delivered 60 Christmas baskets for about 170 underprivileged children at total cost of $555.

Made following grants: Newmarket Red Cross, $150; Lions British Child War Victims' Fund, $200; London, England, Hospital for Sick Children, $47.25; Canadian Red Cross, $100; Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, $25; Newmarket Citizens' Band, $10; R. S. A. bugle band, $10; Citizen-Soldier club, $10; Chinese war relief fund, $10; Kiwanis milk fund for overseas children, $10; Ontario Society for Crippled Children, $10.

Capt. D. O. Mungovan of the 1st battalion of the Queen's York Rangers will leave shortly for the officers' training centre, Kingston, where he will take a course.

Kenneth C. Mitchell of Lansing, formerly of Newmarket, has joined the R.C.A.S.C. as a driver-mechanic. He is now stationed at Camp Sarcee, Calgary, Alta.

Fred Bray and Edward Mosley have joined the navy, and leave on Saturday to start their training.

Herbert Atkins has joined the R.C.A.F. and is taking an aero-engine mechanics course in Toronto.

Sgtm. Frank VandenBerghe celebrated his 20th birthday last week. He is in England.

Sgt. Mervin Firth, Stanley Barracks, Toronto, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Travis.

Robert Cody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Cody, has joined the R.C.A.F. and reports on Aug. 25.

LAC Stan. Evans was home over the weekend and played ball for the R.C.A.F. team from Camp Borden in Toronto on Saturday.

Sgt. Harold Evans of the R.C.O.C. was transferred from Kitchener to Barriefield camp, Kingston, this week.

Albert Evans of the postal department, Brampton camp, was home over Sunday.

Persons wishing to help and farmers needing help should communicate with Mr. Cockburn at the agricultural office.

"There is an acute shortage of help," W. M. Cockburn, York county agricultural representative told the town council Monday evening.

"There is a heavy grain crop and there is quite a bit lodged, which means more work," Mr. Cockburn said.

"There has been quite a bit of voluntary help from some centres. A good deal of this work has been done in the evening gratis. The farmer's wife doesn't let them get away without having a lunch."

"How many days do you need help?" asked Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

A.R.P. GROUP MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FIRE PROTECTION

LAMBERT - REPORTS

Over 100 persons attended the last meeting of the Civilian Defence Committee (A.R.P.), H. E. Lambert, chairman, reported to the town council meeting on Monday evening.

Forty-seven have been sworn in, said Mr. Lambert. Forty more have signed forms and are ready to be sworn in.

East Gwillimbury council is passing a resolution to enable East Gwillimbury residents to co-operate with the town organization, Mr. Lambert said.

"To preserve a free press and hasten an Allied victory," is the convention theme. President Walter Legge of the Granby (P. Q.) Leader-Mail is presiding. C. V. Charters, of the Brampton Conservator, is managing-director and is in charge of convention arrangements.

Speakers will include John Atkins, printing and publishing administrator, wartime prices and trade board, Herbert Lash, director of public information, Wilfred Goodman, editorial secretary, Canadian Publishers War Finance Publicity Committee, Miss Byrne Hope Sanders, wartime prices and trade board, John Martin, of the Massey-Harris Co. and now co-ordinator of wartime advertising at Ottawa.

The city of Saskatoon and board of trade are entertaining the publishers and their families at a luncheon today and Premier Patterson and the Saskatchewan government are entertaining them at dinner this evening.

These newspaper conventions, with their educational discussions, instructive speakers, and newspaper and printing competitions, have been the means of steadily raising weekly newspaper standards of excellence.

The Era and Express is not represented this year at Saskatoon.

Following the convention, Mr. Legge and Mr. Charters will fly to Britain by bomber as members of a press party and as guests of the Canadian department of public information. Mr. Charters has two sons in the Canadian army in England. One was formerly a student at Pickering College.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETS

Accounts approved by the town council Monday evening included: Newmarket Era and Express Limited, $432; Fred S. Thompson, $2; Fulley & Gordon, $6.00; R. Osborne & Son, $8.47; Mrs. Jennie Creeden, $10; King George hotel, $50.30.

"The co-operation from the police department, and particularly the fire department, has been outstanding," said Mr. Lambert.

"We want to compliment you on what you have done," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales. "Some of the things you have discovered will prove of permanent value."

Dr. Dales said that if the fire department needed ladders the town would get them.

"Nobody has laughed at what we are doing," said Mr. Lambert.

"People are getting over the idea of 'It can't happen here,'" said Councillor Wm. Dixon.

Another suggestion made by Mr. Lambert was that the fire brigade should have a net to catch a person from an upstairs window.

From the newspaper's point of view there are advantages too. A newspaper must have money for wages and newsprint and equipment and ink and power and rent and a dozen other things. Cash helps. But in addition to that a newspaper sells its advertising according to its A.B.C. (Audit Bureau of Circulations) circulation and A.B.C. circulation is only paid up circulation. Arrears subscriptions cannot be counted. As everybody wants to help his local newspaper succeed and prosper, people are glad to pay for their subscriptions in advance.

People who were formerly receiving complimentary copies of the paper, for one reason or another, are being asked to subscribe in advance.

LET FARM LEADERS HANDLE JOB

Britain's request for an additional 100,000,000 pounds of bacon is a challenge to Canada's farmers and a challenge to the rest of Canada's population to co-operate with the farms, through their own efforts and through government policy, to make increased production possible. Perhaps it will be possible to make up part of the increased requirements through lessened Canadian consumption, but to some extent there must be increased encouragement to farmers. One definite way in which urbanites can encourage farmers at the moment is by helping them to get in their grain crops with which to feed their pigs.

One way for the government to increase bacon production is to turn the job over to organized agriculture. Just as the department of finance has since the beginning of the war put upon Canadian publishers a large part of the responsibility for publicizing the government's financial operations, with great success, the department of agriculture might make use of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The Federation of Agriculture would expect to be consulted on policy affecting the job they had to do, but theirs would be the job and they would do it successfully.

VENereal DISEASE ETCETERA

It is reassuring to have a statement from Newmarket doctors that the incidence of illegitimacy and venereal disease in Newmarket is no greater than before the war. The statement was made to counteract gossip that might have proved harmful to the Newmarket military camp and to recruiting in general.

On the other hand, the doctors, with their intimate knowledge of the social and family tragedies resulting from these two causes, illegitimacy and venereal disease, would be the first to warn people of the inevitably multiplied dangers in wartime to the health and happiness of the individual, whether soldier or civilian.

Experience shows that the dislocations of wartime, when young men are taken away from their ordinary home environment, and are put into uniform and handled en masse, and when war seems to change ordinary social values not only for soldiers but for civilians, venereal disease spreads much more rapidly than in peace-time. Fortunately, in this war, new drugs are available which are effective in "fighting fire," but, tragically, the fact remains that venereal disease does thrive.

The U. S. magazine "Time" reports an increase of 34 percent in the "known cases" of venereal disease in Britain since the war broke out, and attributes this to a break-down in the ordinary social restraints. Young women, who would ordinarily not speak to men they do not know, require no introductions. People who never saw each other before, sitting side by side in theatres in Britain, "hold hands," according to Time. A man and woman sit beside each other in a bus, strike up an acquaintance, and get off to have a drink together.

Social conventions have good reason, and those of us who disregard them sometimes pay heavily. Inevitably the war will strike Newmarket in this way too, to some extent, but it is to be remembered that it is easier for those who are living their normal civilian lives, than it is for those who have been taken away from their normal environment and social restraints, to prevent these tragedies.

WHEN YOU DISAGREE

If editors make readers "boil" with disagreement, it is to be remembered that the writer often has "boiled" first and then sat down to pen his point of view. The capacity for boiling with indignation is a necessary qualification for an editorial writer. The philosophic reader of an editorial which makes him angry can console himself with the thought that he would probably agree with the article the editorial writer has read or the opinion he has heard before he wrote his own offensive article.

Frequently we try to find reprinting under "What Others Think" articles, with which we disagree, from responsible writers. We realize that they are just as likely to be right as we are, and that their viewpoint will balance our own. So we ask readers to remember that we do not necessarily approve of and agree with opinions expressed under "What Others Think," but we do regard them as worthy of consideration, provocative of thought, and as possibly expressing a viewpoint with which we may agree tomorrow, when we are a day older and a day wiser.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

A CONVENIENT PLAN

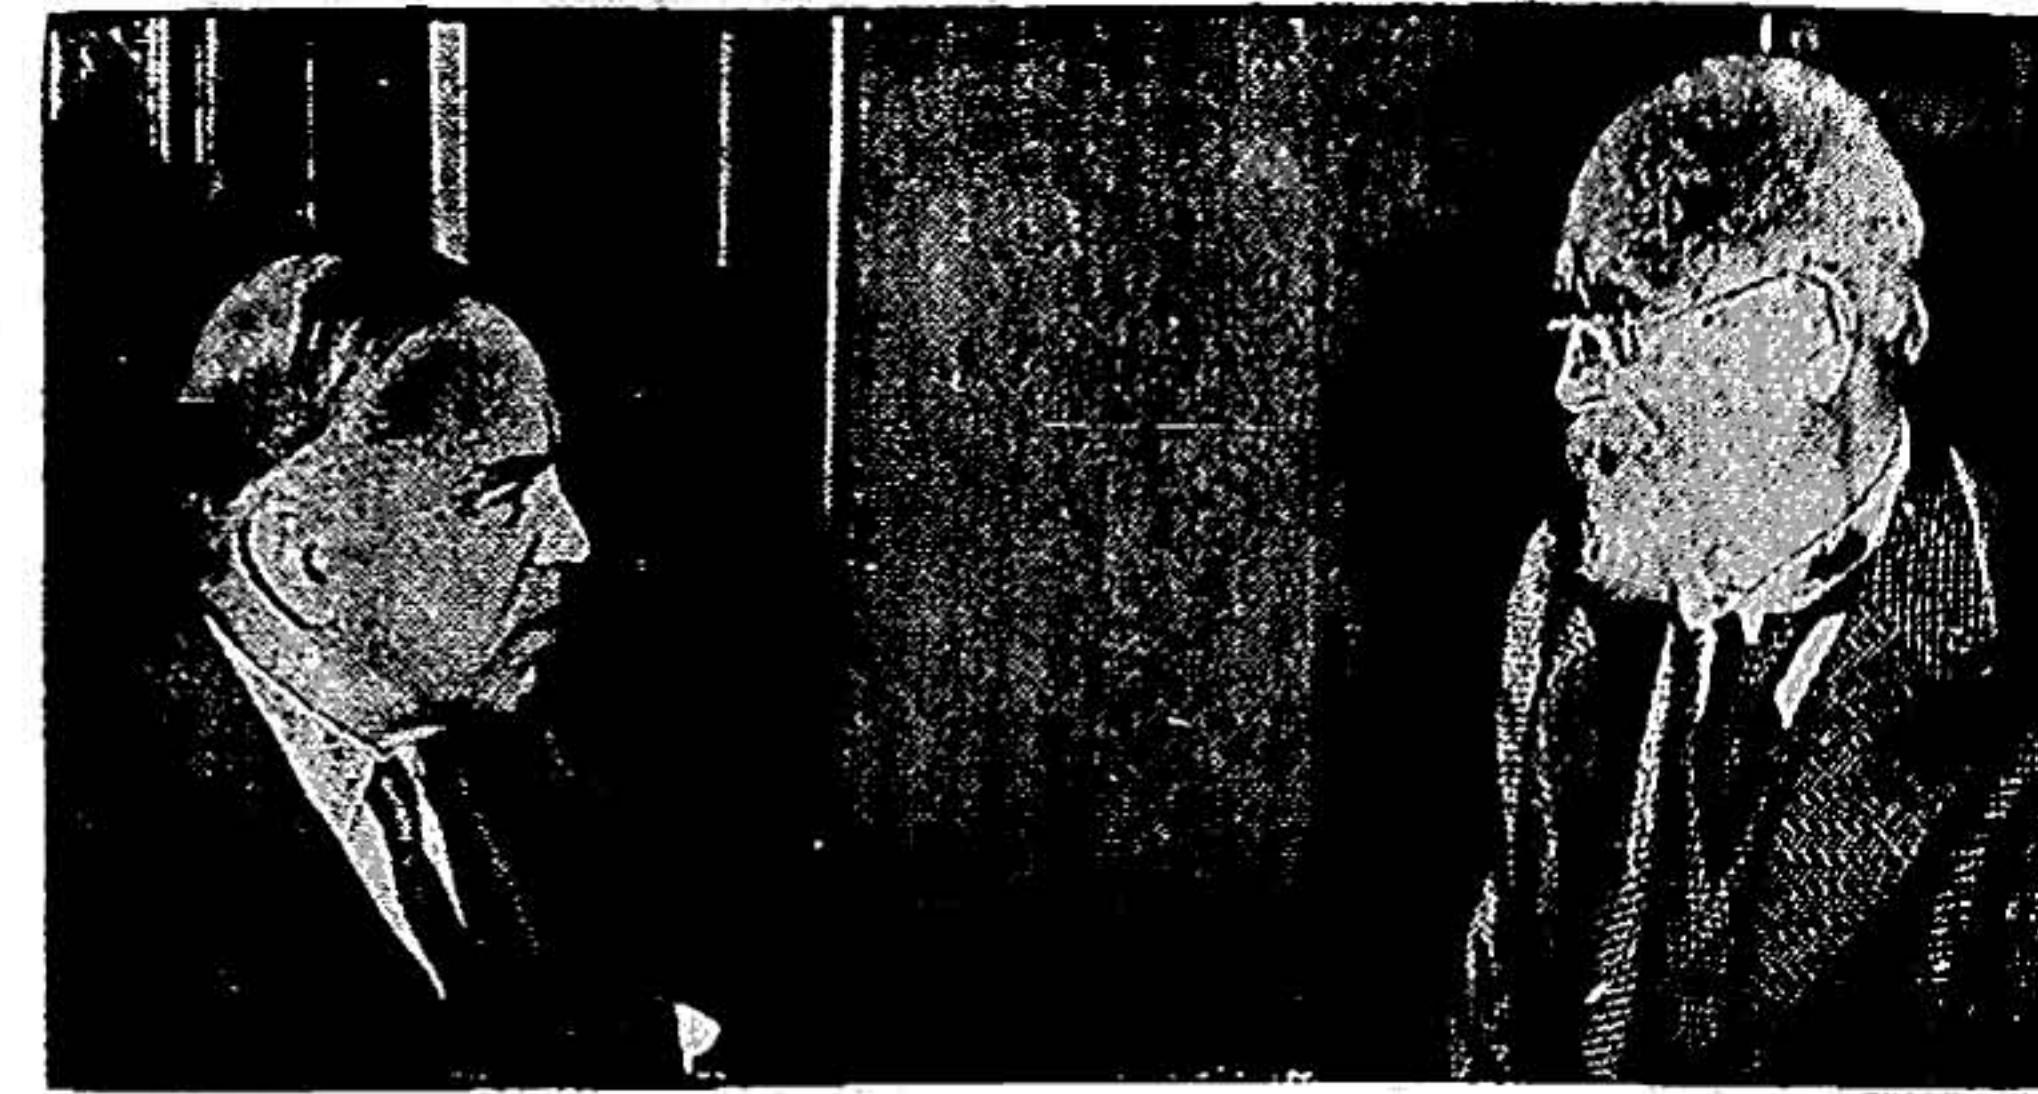

(Collingwood Enterprise-Bulletin)

The purchase of war savings certificates is now greatly simplified. Since Saturday they are purchasable at the counters in banks and post offices. Heretofore it was a matter of buying war stamps and forwarding them to Ottawa to be exchanged for the certificates, this process necessitating delay and in some cases, not a little inconvenience.

The new order means that a purchaser may secure a certificate immediately in exchange for his money. He will trade as in the case of any other purchase. He will receive his certificate there and then, thus closing the deal without any delay.

The purchase of certificate, to an individual, may not appear to be of great value or im-

PRIME MINISTER HAS DAY OF PLEASURE

When Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King arrived in Toronto last week he told reporters that his day there would be devoted to "pleasure." Mr. King called on Sir William Mulock, who is spending his first summer in many years in Toronto instead of at Armitage because his sister, who always accompanied him, is not well. Mr. King received his university degree from Sir William and later was called into the public service by Sir William when the latter organized the department of labor.

Mr. King made another call, not reported in the Toronto press, on William Lyon Mackenzie King (3rd) and his recently arrived sister, grandnephew and grand-niece of Mr. King, at the Rosedale home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rean. They are the children of Dr. and Mrs. William Lyon Mackenzie King and the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Rean. Dr. King is on active service.

British troops fired on rioters in various cities, killing and wounding quite a few Indians. India's 80,000,000 Mohammedans are not taking part in the rioting and strikes.

Of People And Things

STORMS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

All my life there has been one member of the family who loved storms.

In my younger days, it was my father who would drop any work he might be doing to watch what he termed, "nature's grandest show." Now it is my better half who repairs to some vantage point to watch and listen to the brilliant thunderous symphony of sight and sound.

Unfortunately, I do not share their taste, and although I do not repair to a dark clothes closet, nor bury my head under a heap of cushions, like some friends of my youth, I DO repair to the room least affected by the lightning and there, in company with mother, wait with what resignation I can muster, for the return of sunshine.

The other day, as darkness akin to night, crept down on us, and heavy growls from above said in no uncertain terms that nature was trying out her armament, I said to mother, "WHERE IS Woolly?"

"I let him out hours ago," said that lady. "You'd better go and gather him in; a kitten of that age has no sense, and besides doesn't know the place very well."

"I wish he'd gain sense, then," said I, who had no relish for crawling under shrubs and reaching down ventilators, while above me a display of pyrotechnics lighted the landscape. However, the kitten had to be found so forth I went and called, and called, and CALLED. Deeper waters.

But modern Scilly is now noted for its growing of flowers for the London market.

I seem to get site-tracked every time I start to write about the marvellous flowers grown there, daffodils, narcissus, arum lilies, wall flowers, violets—oh just everything that blooms and can be shipped to London. But you see the lovely tropical gardens of the Scilly Isles are so surrounded by treacherous rocks and turbulent seas that it surely makes the gorgeous flowers all the more wonderful in contrast. So once again I feel a thrill of gratitude to my English friends who gave me that splendid book of views—what mattered if it is dated 1888, the pictures are up-to-date in all except modern inventions, for the coast itself does not change. So here's to "Round the Coast"—and I know I'm going to enjoy it even more than in the past.

growls of thunder answered me, but no faint now met my ears, which I feared would be permanently distended in their effort to catch it.

In tones varying from entreaty to command, I addressed the empty air, while crawling under a large lilac bush, trying to reach behind a water barrel and at last removing the grating from the cellar window.

Muttering anathemas on my own head for ever thinking I wanted a kitten, however cute and pretty, I was just about to give up in disgust when two perky ears and a pair of eyes brimming with mischief, came out from under the verandah almost beneath my hand. Grabbing the truant by the back of the neck, and saying sweet things to it with my tongue, while inwardly I seethed as the first large drops of rain went down my neck, we ran for shelter.

Depositing the kitten in mother's lap, I said sternly, "there's your cat, I wish you'd teach it to stay at home at the proper times."

"All the windows upstairs are up, and no doubt the rain is coming in," replied my parent as she cuddled the kitten, who immediately burst into ecstatic purrs while looking defiance at me.

Tramping gloomily upstairs I found a small lake in one room, and while putting down the window, caught my ring and cut my finger. Then I tramped morosely down again to find mother and the kitten placidly rocking in the living-room. "If those crashes were bombs falling you wouldn't look so comfortable," said I.

"I'd be where I should be—in a shelter," she told me quietly.

And I thought how little of discomfort and danger we really know—a thunderstorm can upset us, while in many lands the lovely tropical gardens of the Scilly Isles are so surrounded by treacherous rocks and turbulent seas that it surely makes the gorgeous flowers all the more wonderful in contrast.

So once again I feel a thrill of gratitude to my English friends who gave me that splendid book of views—what mattered if it is dated 1888, the pictures are up-to-date in all except modern inventions, for the coast itself does not change. So here's to "Round the Coast"—and I know I'm going to enjoy it even more than in the past.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed on Frank J. McMahon, who was timed speeding in Aurora by Chief Constable Fisher Dunham.

His worship found William G. Frederick of Bradford guilty of careless driving on Yonge St. and fined him $10 and costs. Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson laid the charge.

POLICE COURT

SIX QUARTS OF BEER BLAMED FOR MISDEED

"In spite of the fact that your mother has done everything possible to screen you, I find you guilty of this charge," Magistrate W. N. Robinson admonished Elmer Miller, East Gwillimbury, in York county police court, Newmarket, on Friday. Mr. Miller, who pleaded not guilty, was charged with striking his 80-year-old mother on July 25, giving her a black eye and abrasions on her face and ear.

"It is a dastardly thing to strike a mother, who expects your protection," continued his worship. "Your only answer is that you don't remember what happened. I am satisfied with the evidence of your mother in spite of her trying to protect you."

When called to the witness stand, Mrs. Mary Miller told his worship that her unmarried son, Elmer, lived with her on the farm near Queensville. "He was intoxicated, he never hurt me, he just gave me a shove, that is the truth," she stated.

Miss Amy Gibson spent Tuesday with Mrs. D. B. Stickwood.

Dr. G. E. Case, Newmarket, testified that Mrs. Miller had come to his office on July 28 or 29 and that she had a bruised eye, her face was swollen and her ear scraped. He said that she might have received the bruise on her ear from falling against something hard.

"I accompanied Constable Watt in the execution of a warrant that had been made out for Mr. Miller," testified Constable Joseph Jardine. The officer went on to say that when he went to the Miller home, Mrs. Miller met him in the presence of the defendant that the latter had thrown some tea out of a cup into her face and that he had struck her with his elbow.

"Your worship, I was to a friend's and he had a case of beer and he gave me a few drinks," pleaded Mr. Miller. "I don't remember getting home or anything happening to mother. No such thing ever happened before. It wasn't done intentionally. If you give me another chance I'll go straight and I'll never take another drink. I'll take care of mother all my life." He explained to his worship that he worked hard in the field, getting up at five o'clock in the morning to cultivate the crops.

HAS WEEK AT CAMP

Harold McClelland, Newmarket district manager of the Bell Telephone Co., has returned home after a week's training with the Queen's York Rangers at Niagara camp.

"CHEERS A FELLOW TO GET MAIL FROM HOME"

The following are interesting excerpts taken from letters received by the Elmhurst Beach Women's Institute from North Gwillimbury boys overseas. Pte. Fred Crittenden writes: "You really do not know how surprised I was to get your parcel today, and believe me it surely was appreciated. Everything was quite useful, but I'm not so sure about the tea as our hot water has been cut off, so no tea! It really cheers a fellow to get mail from home."

"We had an air-raid warning the other night but nothing happened. We could see the anti-aircraft guns firing, and that weird siren sounded, which seems to give one a funny feeling."

Pte. Herb. Hodges "thanks the Elmhurst W. I. for a parcel received."

"When I get The Era the first thing I look for is the Elmhurst news," writes Pte. Hodges. "Although I don't write very often, I think of all my friends back home, and hope it is not long till we get a chance to get at the job we came over here to do, and get it finished, so we can get home."

"Just a few lines to let you know I received the parcel from the Institute in fine shape," writes Pte. Geo. Holden. "I see in the Newmarket paper where one person got drowned back of the Beach place, while fishing. Everything over here is very much the same. Thanking you all once again for the nice parcel and kind remembrances, I will close for now."

Pended sentence, in view of your mother wanting you home to look after the crops," Magistrate Robinson told the defendant. "A condition of the sentence is that you stop drinking. You have to behave yourself and take care of your mother."

All our officials as well as the natives are quite tolerant of our weird ideas.

Since coming here almost two weeks ago there have been eight fires near our camp. The alarms were phoned in quickly and the boys got there before the fires had become very big, so were able to get them out before much damage was done. The idea in having so many small camps is so that the firefighters will be near to a fire whenever it breaks out.

We were out on a fire today about six miles from Victoria that was quite dangerous. A strong breeze was driving it up a hillside toward the big timbers but 20 of us got there while it was still small and were able to get a fire break around it before it did much damage. It is quite exciting work and I think the boys would be quite prepared to face dangers that might equal those on the battlefield, but so far as I know none of us has been seriously hurt yet. I've met some interesting people since I left home last fall.

C. E. Tench, the engineer at our Montreal River camp, comes from Newmarket. Mr. McKenney, the foreman at our Manning depot near New Westminster, told me he came from Queensville.

I went down to meet the baker," stated Mr. Miller. "Mr. Foster came up to me and asked me what was wrong. I said I didn't want to talk to him or have anything to do with him. He jumped around and swore. He grabbed me by the shoulder."

Asked by Magistrate Robinson if he would like to go into the witness-box to tell his story, Mr. Foster replied that he would rather have "the baker" tell what he saw and let his worship decide.

"I served Mr. Foster and then Mr. Miller," stated Ben Cookson, the baker. "Mr. Foster asked Mr. Miller what was the matter and touched him on the arm."

Asked by the crown to describe in what way the defendant touched Mr. Miller on the arm, the witness said: "It was more or less a gentlemanly touch."

"Was there any violence on either side?" asked the crown.

Mr. Cookson replied that there was no violence whatsoever.

"You heard what Mr. Miller said, what have you to say about that?"

"Well, I figure my story true," replied the witness.

"There is no evidence there," remarked Mr. Mathews. Magistrate Robinson agreed.

Magistrate Robinson adjourned for three weeks the case of Lee King and Lee Wong, both of Aurora, each charged with keeping a gaming-house. The charges were laid on complaint of Chief Constable Fisher Dunham, Aurora.

Father's Note—"C.O." is used in the following letter in a non-military sense! Francis Starr is a Pine Orchard Quaker of convictions and courage. Last year he harvested with a new combine, 300 acres of grain for his father and neighbors. This year the combine must remain on the home farm as Francis' father, Elmer Starr, and his brother, Stuart, have their hands full with their own work. Francis Starr received 50 cents a day at the northern Ontario road-work camp where he was previously stationed.

Langford, B.C., Aug. 4, 1942.

Editor, The Era and Express:

I thought you might be interested in the new work we are engaged in out here. Just about a month ago we were suddenly notified that we were to be shifted out here. The local provincial government had become quite alarmed because the natural fire hazards were greater out here than usual and also there was quite a danger of the enemy dropping fire bombs on the valuable forests along the coast. They asked the dominion government for 1,000 C.O.'s and I believe there are about half that many here now.

There are 13 camps for us here on the Island and the camps average about 35 C.O.'s apiece. I am in a camp just 12 miles from Victoria and there are 333 of us here, all from Ontario and five of us from York county. We are out here primarily to fight forest fires but most of our work is eliminating fire hazards such as cutting down dead trees and removing underbrush. We are also cutting trails through the forests to make it more convenient to get to strategic points.

PAIL OF SAND MAY BE A FIRE EXTINGUISHER

(By Rudy Renzius, press secretary, Civilian Defence Com.)

As our enemies well know, fire is their most valuable ally. Fire offers a simple and most effective means for the complete destruction of any war effort or vital service. Because of its self-propagation it is the best means for widespread destruction.

If two fires were started in our small community at the same time, either by incendiary bombs, by sabotage or even carelessness, obviously the fire guard could only be at one and unless we have lots of well trained wardens, postmen and citizens able to put out such a fire, the results would be disastrous. This is one reason for our civilian defence committee.

The members will all be instructed in how to extinguish small fires of any origin. All citizens should have a pail or two of dry sand handy. Many fires, not only the ones caused by incendiary bombs, can be smothered by a pail of sand if caught early enough. Wardens and postmen will be able to tell you how to watch for incendiary bombs and to handle them, if possible without calling on the fire department.

Be sure to get your sand from the sand-boxes to be placed in your ward and give your warden all possible help and information when he comes to call on you to get acquainted and he'll be sure to give you all the help he can.

Watch for announcements of the next C.D.C. meeting, when an outstanding speaker on A.R.P. work has promised to speak.

But Prefers Landing

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Goodwin from Bill Dean, a Holland Landing boy, who has been in England since July, 1941:

"Just a few lines to let you know that I'm well and hope this finds you all the same. I wrote to Reynolds to thank him for the cigarettes he sent, which he evidently has not received as yet. When you see him, please thank him for me, as I was glad to get

"I wish Mrs. Goodwin could see the roses over here. They certainly are nice, lots of them and all varieties. There is some other flower in the bushes, but I don't know what they call it. They are nice than any flower I have ever seen any place. They are all shades, and grow on bushes up to 15 or 20 feet tall. The leaves look like rubber plant leaves."

"We have had no rain for over a month, but we had lots of it before. I have seen a lot of the Old Land, but I'd just as soon have Holland Landing any day."

MURIEL SEDORE IS GIVEN SHOWER

Nearly 100 relatives and friends of Miss Muriel Sedore, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sedore, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wrightman, Amelia St., last evening, to shower her with bridal gifts prior to her marriage to Mr. Donald Stephens this month.

There were friends and relatives from the town and from her former home near Belhaven. The gifts were all useful and delightful. The decorations for the shower were in pink and white and were quite unique.

When the last gift was opened someone pulled a string which released a shower of confetti over the happy couple and those near. Refreshments were then served by the younger members, after which all joined in a hearty sing-song before dispersing to their homes.

A pretty garden wedding, which took place on July 25, was that of Evelyn Auckland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Auckland of King, to Victor Jones of Aurora, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones of Gormley. NEWMARKET FOLK ATTEND WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Feasby, Centreville, near Kitchener, formerly of Newmarket, was the setting for a lovely mid-summer wedding on July 29 when their daughter, Elva Ruth Feasby, became the bride of Cpl. Fletcher T. Whitmore, R.C.A.F., of Macdonald, Man., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Whitmore of Seaforth.

Ferns, gladioli and cornflowers made effective decorations in the drawing-room, where the ceremony was performed, and through the other rooms of the home.

Rev. E. O. Seymour, pastor of Trinity United church, officiated.

He was assisted by Rev. A. J. Mann of Kitchener, formerly of Newmarket.

The bride's cousin, Mary Feasby of Toronto, was the pianist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk jersey with fitted torso-line bodice with V-neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. Her bridal veil was of finger-tip length and she carried a cascade bouquet of Better-Times roses.

Her sister, Elsie Feasby, was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of pink net over taffeta and carrying a cascade bouquet of cornflowers and gladioli.

Mr. Carman Whitmore of Seaforth was the best man.

During the signing of the register Miss Thelma Skoog Oakville, sang "Through the Years."

At the reception following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving the 40 guests by the bride's parents, Mrs. Feasby wearing a navy blue sheer redingote frock with corsage of Talisman roses, and by the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. Whitmore gowned in a navy blue printed silk with corsage of Talisman roses.

A wedding supper was served from a table centred with the bride's cake and lighted with tall white taper candles.

Immediately after the supper the bride and bridegroom left on a short trip to points in western Ontario, the bride wearing for travelling a pale blue crepe redingote with navy blue accessories and corsage of Dream roses and the bridegroom's gift, a gold bracelet.

After their honeymoon Cpl. and Mrs. Whitmore will leave for Portage La Prairie.

Among the 40 guests were friends from Toronto, Uxbridge, Newmarket, Oakville, Hamilton, North Bay and Seaford.

DIES SUDDENLY FROM HEART ATTACK

The residents of Laskay community were greatly shocked early last Wednesday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. J. Albert Kerr, who was ill only half an hour with a heart attack. Mrs. Kerr had been in poor health for some years but had attended to her household work until the time of her death.

Mrs. Kerr, whose maiden name was Edna Lorena Cain, was born in King Creek 52 years ago. She later lived in Aurora and vicinity for almost 20 years.

Mrs. Kerr is deeply mourned as a faithful wife, a devoted mother and a kind and loving sister. Surviving are her husband, two sons, Bill and Ted, her little daughter, Margaret, two sisters, Mrs. G. W. White, Kawartha, and Mrs. F. M. Sharpe, Toronto, and three brothers, Stanley J. Eliot E. and Harold E. all of Nobleton.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The late Mrs. Kerr will be greatly missed by the members of her family and the community.

Former "Yorker" Visits Regiment At Niagara

Seventy-eight-year-old William Konkay of St. Catharines, who formerly resided in North York and Toronto and who fought in the Northwest Rebellion with the 12th Yorks, made his annual visit to the Queen's Yorks lines last Sunday.

Konkay made inquiries about Major W. H. Taylor and other veteran military men in North York. After leaving the Yorks in 1900 he joined the Lincoln regiment and until military regulations barred him he continued to take his training.

Infant Mortality, Housing, Education Are Deplored

AURORA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13TH, 1942

IS AT PETAWAWA

"I have found a great resurgence of interest in social security and social justice," E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, told the York North C.C.F. Constituency Association in Aurora on Monday evening.

Mr. Jolliffe said he had spoken in 35 ridings in the last two months.

"The people are beginning to realize they must take a much greater part in provincial and municipal affairs if they hope to correct our shocking infant death-rate, our unequal educational facilities, and our lack of housing accommodation," Mr. Jolliffe said.

He laid the blame for this state of affairs "on the indifference and apathy" of those in power.

"The C.C.F. believe that, in order to prosecute this war successfully, we must exert our utmost efficiency and make a good job of our provincial and municipal governments," he said. "Heppen, on the other hand, seems to think that virulent criticism of the national government and the passing of responsible to the municipal governments will win the war."

"Meantime our farmers are slowly drifting towards a form of peasantry. The responsibility is both federal and provincial, as farm income can only be raised by co-operation between both governments and it must be achieved by the government in co-operation with the farmers themselves."

"Exploitation of the farmers by processing companies, implement companies and financial institutions must cease and the farmers must be assured parity prices as defined by the national manifesto passed at the C.C.F. national convention last month. Parity prices would enable the farmer to include in his costs of production better farm wages."

"Pre-war spending was around $50 million dollars by the dominion government, 100 million by the province and another 100 million by the municipalities. Of the 200 million collected within the province, the larger part of the total taxes were collected from farmers and small home-owners. Provincial taxes are light on corporations. The C.C.F. would transfer the burden to shoulders where it belongs."

"Our natural resources have been developed in an unplanned chaotic way," Mr. Jolliffe said, mentioning especially northern Ontario mines. "Public property has been given away to private interests," he said. "What we need is more public property publicly owned and more private property owned by more private people."

"The policy of the government has been decided without reference to conventions year after year after year."

"The C.C.F. does not look backward but looks forward to the reconstruction of society and the welfare of the humblest."

The following council was elected by the meeting to promote educational work in York North riding and to act on behalf of the C.C.F. in federal and provincial elections: East Gwillimbury, Frank Ramsay; Newmarket, Joseph Calbas; Whitby, Ross Armitage; Aurora, Dr. G. A. C. Gunton; Vaughan, James Wark; Woodbridge, Ernest Root; North York township, Mrs. L. Lock, Price Brown and Wm. McFarlane.

Members are to be added to represent the townships of King and North Gwillimbury and Georgina.

Sign Mysteriously Finds Way Back To Old Stand

The report of the Aurora town council discussion last week of the signs erected by the Aurora Engineering Co. incorrectly reported the attitude of Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks.

Mr. Sparks said this week: "I did not object to the signs at any time. I approve of the signs being up. I thought Mr. Bowman should replace the sign he took down. I had a resolution to that effect in committee of the whole but it was defeated."

"I did not approve of the resolution in full council because it might have involved the town in legal action."

Mr. Sparks said that the sign had been replaced but that nobody seemed to know who had replaced it.

Nevertheless they will all be glad to see their respective families and friends, although a goodly number of North Yorkers visited the camp last Sunday. The factory whistle, the time-clock and the office desk will be strange things to face on Monday morning after the experiences of the past two weeks.

The regiment provided meals on Sunday for all visitors to the camp and no one went short on their rations. It must have been a pleasant sight for the ladies to see their menfolk keeping the lines as neat and tidy as home, and washing dishes and waiting on tables.

Lieut. Dr. C. J. Devins of Aurora pulled into camp last Friday and was soon greeting the Aurora boys in camp. This week he has been medical officer of the unit but, truth to tell, has not had to work so hard as in general practice, so fit and well are the men.

Each day the lines are judged and the best company lines hold the battalion pennant for the day. Capt. Earl Bates was pleased as punch last Thursday when the honors went to C company. It was a day when the chips were down, as Brigadier-General Anderson was on hand from headquarters to inspect the camp. By the end of the week the North Yorkers hope to have won the pennant more than any other company but that will be a difficult feat, for the five companies are all filled with the same spirit and the competition is keen.

The entire battalion arose at 5 a.m., an hour earlier than usual, on Saturday, and proceeded to the rifle ranges. Application fire, snap-shooting, firing with the bayonet on and firing with a gas respirator, all were on the program and some remarkably fine shooting was turned in by the majority of the men. Biggest kick of all was when the men left the 200-yard range and moved over to the 30-yard targets, where they fired the Bren gun.

There was some heavy hitting by Syd. Lustig and Alf. Patterson of Slemans' while Warner Botham and Lloyd were the best players for the losers.

The umpires for the game were Wynt Saige and David Ferguson.

JOAN PEARCE WEDS R.C.E. MAN

A pretty wedding took place quietly on Sunday at the residence of Rev. T. R. White, when Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Pearce of Holland Landing, became the bride of Lewis Irwin Noble, R.C.E., Petawawa camp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Noble of Bradford.

The bride looked charming in a rose beige afternoon fro

DOWN THE CENTRE

By the lantern in our tent at Niagara we are pounding on a borrowed typewriter the latest sport flashes. As we do so we are bothered a bit by our tent-mate, Stan Smith, who is snoring lustily after what he calls a hard day's work. Smitty, you will remember, maestro of the Newmarket Redmen, has a dominion title and is able to re-play all the games of '32. In his day he was a fair sort of goal-tender. Now he is doing a fine job as quartermaster of C company.

Herbie Cain and the boys in the shipping room at the Davis Leather Company will rejoice to know that Stan received their parcel. The cigarettes went quick but the cockroaches enclosed in the box went quicker and Stan and Cpl. Arnold Miller, Aurora high school master, went into action like a pair of commandos, finally running them to earth.

A company lost its first baseball game but still have chance to recoup their laurels as the series really gets under way this week. The team is young and a far cry from last year's team but now they have overcome their stage-fright they will probably do better. Then too players who were not in action because of passes or fatigue.

Del Babcock, Aurora schoolmaster, and Tommy Spence are looking after the team and are vowing vengeance for the loss administered them by D company. The North York boys fared up as follows: Lieut. Bill Allen c. Mike Thompson p. "Doc" Brown 1b Herbie Rose 2b, Tommy Spence 3b, "Slim" Kirbyson ss, and Myles MacInnis, Johnny Goheen and Alfie Watson, outfielders. Reserve strength used in a desperate last two-inning rally included Babcock, Ab. Wattis, Bill Everest, Ken. Harman and yours truly.

Lieut. Bill Allen is a real catcher and has made a big hit with his boys by his fine spirit of cameraderie and the consideration he shows his men. There is a splendid example of the type of thing we are fighting for. In this country officers and men of the parade ground often relax and play together as equals. We just can't imagine that happening in Nazi lines.

Mike Thompson, the husky Newmarket lad, pitched a fair sort of game but tired after his support Irish, Argylls, Queen's Own, R.C.A.M.C. and other units in camp. Kosti, a shot-putter, appears to be one of the sure-pop winners while Richards in the quarter, MacInnis in the field events and Mike Thompson all have a fair chance to win out. The Yorks will be right in there trying in any case.

Two new games are dodging the pickets when you haven't a late pass and hitch-hiking. In the first event the country boys have done fairly well. As their C.S.M. of the record we have seen plenty of the boys downtown beyond hours. "What you can't see you can't do anything about," is good logic but the country boys know what the technique is all about and have been running the pickets ragged.

On Saturday C.Q.M.S. Stan Smith earned his laurels as a hitch-hiker, entitling him in that class to the rank of W.O. 1. Smith used his thumb with rare distinction and finally wound up the party in Niagara Falls, thereby only losing them a few shillings more than the bus fare. "I never in my life passed up soldiers walking on the highway and despite my experience I don't intend to do so in the future," said Smith. Truly, Smith at his best was as good as Major Hoople and the sun has made Smith's nose as red as the major's mahogany tipped proboscis. When he gets back to the tannery next week, boys, and makes a few mistakes, don't be too hard on him.

Harvey Glynne, the Newmarket softball and hardballer, has joined the active unit of the Queen's Yorks, and has visited us. It is a nice reunion for Gibby, who had two stripes when he left the reserve unit. He should do well on active service.

Frank Kennedy, who is the assistant pro at the Summit Golf club, is with the Yorks at camp. Only a youngster, Kennedy and "Red" Rose have both been casting envious eyes at the local golf course but so far have not been able to have a crack at it. A match between the two would settle the company's golf title.

Cam. Walkington, King township councillor and probably the huskiest man in camp, is picking a tug-of-war team from C company and he will also look after the battalion's tug-of-war team. Last year the Yorks lost out in the final pull against the Scottish but this year hope to win the bacon.

Tug-of-war, one of the oldest sporting events, while on the demise most places, is still a favorite event with the army and police and always finds a few bets being placed. Walkington has had lots of experience and C company will have a fairly husky team. We expect to do a little tugging with the boys too.

Harry Sniderman, president of the Ontario softball association, and Joe Perlove, racing writer for the Toronto Star, are both at Niagara with the Irish regiment, while a dozen more shonkers are with all units. The Irish have some classy boxers on their roster and should be able to take the honors in that section.

Commando tactics have a place this year on the sports program, with each regiment allowed three teams of two men each. It resembles greatly the old obstacle race but with full pack on and a nine-foot wall to scale it is much tougher. The water jump is said to land at least two out of every three men and provides a good ducking for those who can't negotiate it and plenty of amusement for the spectators. There are 13 events in all listed for sports day. This year the Yorks should do better but little is known about the strength of the Queen's Own or the Argyll Highlanders.

Joe Cody, shortstop for the Yorks battalion team last year and a member of the tug-of-war team a year ago, was one of the toughest hombres in camp. Now a year later he has been invalided back to Canada with a nervous breakdown and greatly overweight following some months in England with the tank corps.

Tubby Barrow, former Aurora and Richmond Hill junior hockeyist, is stationed at Winnipeg with the R.C.A.F., we learn.

Listed as missing following R.C.A.F. operations overseas is Ernie White, another former Richmond Hill junior puckchaser. Ernie was a sergeant and his father, A. C. White, was secretary of the Richmond Hill hockey club, junior and juvenile, a few years back.

Mike Miller, who played junior lacrosse for Thornhill and later played for Richmond Hill, has won senior tri-county honors, has enlisted with the signal corps and is stationed at Orillia.

Johnny Madill, who pitched for Richmond Hill in the York-Simcoe league but was better known for his pitching in Toronto, is also with the signals and is stationed at Kingston, where he is playing in the city softball league.

Charlie Smith has had his army call deferred because of sinus trouble. So he is riding again as usual, this week at Hamilton and all around the circuit until the ailment is cured. Definitely, however, he is headed for the army and we hope he has a stock of winners as he has not had too good a season due to his sticking to Ten to Ace.

Mrs. Ethan Morton is in the Toronto General Hospital recovering from a recent operation. Her small daughter is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morton.

Miss Helen Gilroy of Oakville is visiting her aunt, Miss E. D. Gilroy and Mrs. Gilroy.

Mrs. Percy Mahoney attended a school reunion at her old home school in Drayton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John King attended the funeral of Mrs. King's aunt, Mrs. George Colard, at Stouffville, on Saturday. Miss Jean King visited friends at Victoria Square.

Their mother's name, she said, was April. A silly name for a cat but that's what the children called her and she hadn't even noticed how silly it was until that morning.

They were all packed in the car that morning, she said, ready to start for this cottage near the camp that Henry had hired for them, when the children missed April. So she had to go around the place calling April, April, April, while the children hung out a window apiece calling April, April, April, too.

Finally, she said, she unlocked the garage again and found April in the back end, hiding behind a bag of waste.

No, she didn't think. Heaven knows, if she had thought she would have left the cat off at the vet's on her way out of town.

But you try packing a Ford with two children and your husband's mother and a puppy called Coral Sea and enough stuff to do a month in a furnished cottage near a camp and see how much thinking you'll do about a cat that turns up missing after you've got the last thing in.

And anyway, she said, April was always moody. So she just picked her up and pushed her through the window into the back of the car with the children and the puppy and the extra pillow and the bathing suits and folding chairs and the water ball and the warm coats and the lunch basket and started.

And when the children reported that April was acting awful funny, she just said, Be quiet children. Can't you see Granny and I are talking? And when they insisted that April was acting awful funny, she said Awfully, not awful. How many times have I told you?

You get like that, she said, when you're on your way to a furnished cottage near a camp that you've never seen before and you can't remember whether Henry said it had bedding. And April was always an odd cat.

The first kitten, that's the white one with the fawn patch over its eye, she said, was born just before they got to Richmond Hill.

And after that, she said, they kept on being born and she kept on driving. What else was there to do? She did speak of stopping and putting April out of the car, she said, but the children both started to howl right away. The idea that their mother could be such a wretch as to think of putting April out of the car when she was sick, upset them. They wouldn't stop howling until they had their mother's word that she wouldn't be such a wretch.

And there wasn't really much sense sitting on the side of the road in the car, she said, waiting for April's family. So she kept driving and the kittens kept coming and so did the progress reports from the back seat. Next to April, it was hardest, she believed, on Henry's mother, who doesn't approve of nursery schools but she did as well as could be expected.

No, she said, she didn't laugh. She hadn't time to notice it was funny. She was too busy driving and telling the children to sit still and hold on to Coral Sea or she'd have to put April out.

"That one with the black ear," she said, "is Aurora and the smoke grey is Newmarket—sort of sweet isn't she?—and the little black fellow's Holland Landing. I thought we'd never get to Holland Landing. I imagine April did too."

She hadn't figured a way to buy enough cat's meat out of Henry's assigned pay yet, she said. But they'd have to manage somehow. You could see she couldn't drown Richmond Hill or Aurora or Newmarket or Holland Landing—not after what they'd all been through together. Queer what Hitler does to people, she said.

It was decided to hold a special meeting next week to set the tax rate for 1942, which it is expected will be held at the low level of last year. The meeting, which convened at one o'clock, was completed by five o'clock. The amount of business was not onerous.

WHITCHURCHTold Snow Fence Price
Going Up, Buy 7000 Ft.

Whitchurch township council on Saturday afternoon decided to complete the deal which has been pending for months for the purchase of 7,000 feet of snow fencing, at a cost of nearly $700 when the price of posts is added.

The council was told that the fencing could not be held longer, as the price was advancing. Councillor Lorne Evans moved that the deal be completed and Councillor Eugene Baker seconded the motion. Reeve Earl Toole presided over the meeting. Deputy-Reeve George Leary was absent through illness.

Councillor Ed Logan said he had been approached by the ratepayers at Musselman's with a proposal to let the council appoint a constable to police the cottages after the summer season is over. Councillor Eugene Baker said he had been approached about the same matter.

The councillors were advised to inform the ratepayers that they might be able to make such an arrangement with the officer at the lake themselves, and that a duly signed petition would have to be submitted before the council could take any action to appoint such an officer and charge it to the ratepayers benefited.

Relief is showing an appreciable decline, and ran only $30 for the month of July.

"I am ready to sign the warrant for a tax sale whenever the council directs," said Mr. Toole. Clerk Crawford said that it would be possible to set a date for the sale within a few weeks, or less.
